

BIOGRAPHY

Isaac Wood of San Diego California has been a paid professional Surfer since 1997. Since then he has learned how to be a team rider and a professional athlete. Isaac provides a fresh new platform for sponsors to showcase their products. Surfing, skate boarding, and riding bikes has been a continual progression over his lifetime. When it comes to surfing, he has been in this sport professionally for over 12 years. He has traveled around the world, been pictured in over 30 print ads as well as numerous TV spots and video segments. He continues to place at the top in all his competitions. When it comes to riding full suspension bikes, he is one of the few that competes semi-professionally in DH, 4X, and can complete difficult tricks such as 360's, Back flips, Barrel rolls and Superman's. His proven success is achieved through effective managerial skills, strong work ethic, constant communication with sponsors and his website. www.Isaacwood.com

Isaac currently works with a TV show called My Local Line Up TV a Surf specific TV show that airs 9 times a week in San Diego. His role as Production Asst. is to organize Pros and Photographers/Videographers for segments on the show. His relationship with My Local Line Up TV show allows him plenty of air time, plugs for his sponsors and the thing he likes the most is he gets to helps bring exposure to up in coming groms and the unknown legends by getting them on the show.

The Highlights of Isaac's career include competing on the WLT and ranking 13th overall in the world. A 4th at Boca Barranca Costa Rica, a 7th at Puerto Escondido Tube Riding Contest, a 9th at the US Open and a 3rd in San Miguel Baja secured a 13th spot overall for the year.

CAREER

Isaac applies years of skill and knowledge into his competitions and contests. He makes every event successful regardless of results.

HIGHLIGHTS

Competition lies deep within Isaac, and he loves to compete. Earlier in his career he competed on the WLT and ranked a 4th at Boca Barranca Costa Rica, a 7th at Puerto Escondido Tube Riding Contest, a 9th at the US Open and a 3rd in San Miguel, Baja Ca. secured a 13th overall for the year. Eventually he backed away from the WQS. Due to lack of Support and no Tour.

In 2009, Coalition contests became his main priority, and only a few of his sponsors cared that he even did contests. The sponsors that did want him to compete preferred that he do the Coalition Club Contests vs. the PLA's and WQS ranked events. That's what he focused on and in 2009 Isaac placed in the top 4 in every contest he entered but 1. Since then he has been pushed to pursue the WQS and then the WLT once again by a few of his bigger sponsors for 2010.

CAREER him secu

Isaac's competitive career started at 12 and since then his competition results have helped him secure the support he needs.

Isaac is motivated to make a greener industry. He works with his sponsors in finding eco-friendly materials.

ENVIRONMENTAL STANCE

Isaac works hard with his sponsors to try and take an environmentally friendly approach to their products. It's team riders like Isaac and the companies like his sponsors, that continue to push the industry to try different materials that will ultimately make a change in the way the Action Sports products are made.

Isaac and his sponsors are working on everything from Recycled Deck pads, recycled wetsuits and Soy based wax to sustainable Bamboo and Composite materials for surfboards. He even rides and represents an energy drink Company that supports market driven restoration in the South American Atlantic Rainforests.

He believes that he has an obligation to push sustainable products mostly because of the amount of products he goes through in year. He feels that if professionals don't take a stand and go green then most big surf companies won't really have a reason.

Isaac is an ambassador for his sports and his sponsors whenever he travels. Near or abroad he is a good representation of the companies and countries that he promotes.

COMMUNITY

www.MYLOCALLINEUP.com

Isaac enjoys helping the local action sports community. Being a role model to kids, helping out, and planning events.

COMMUNITY

Isaac makes it a point to give back to his community. Isaac works with My Local Line Up TV which allows the thing he likes the most. He gets to help out up in coming groms all the way to the unknown legends by getting them exposure on the show by showcasing what they do out surfing. The Goal of the show is to show the surfing talent that is in the local San Diego Line ups.

Isaac helps put on contests in both mt biking and Surfing in 2008 He helped organize three events. In april of 08 Isaac got together with a couple of his professional Mt. Bike friends JD Swangen, Carter Holland, Mike Flaherty, and Rick Nolte as well as their sponsors to help put together what they called "Holla fo yo Dolla Jam". There goal was to get a bunch of 1 dollar bills and bike parts donated to give out when ever somebody does a good trick. They combined all ability levels and left it a jam format. At the end of the comp every rider votes on who rode the best for that day (pro) and (am). This kind of event allows people of all abilities to ride together and everyone make a little money for throwing down. The event was a success and is now in its third year...

Isaac also has helped out with PBSC Tourmaline classic and the Wind n Sea Surf Club interclub contest. For the last 7 years Isaac has helped be a part of organizing and judging the contests. His expertise in contests brings a professional feel to the event as well as bringing Promotional exposure to the contests. Isaac strives to give exposure to the underdog. He feels that if he can get involved with contests then he can show the younger generation that contests are not just about winning but being a good representation of the companies and people that support them. He teaches that contests are family events that everyone can benefit from. Isaac comes from a strong surfing family which helps drive his love of surfing and family togetherness...
